Speaking Topics

Take Control of Your Content

Writing a book is a great way to gain credibility. I show audiences how to keep their intellectual property rights, and control the creative and marketing direction of their content. I've helped hundreds of people navigate their publishing options, so they can make informed decisions about how to responsibly publish their books and content.

Traditional vs Self-Publishing

Once you've written your book, do you self-publish or go with a traditional publisher? As the author of the bestselling book "The Memoir Midwife: Nine Steps to Self-publishing Your Book" I share the pros and cons of both so that my audiences are crystal clear on which is right for them.

It's Your Story. Find it. Write it. Share it.

Whether it's your personal story or corporate story, sharing your journey leads to customer trust in today's world. With my Story Mapping Method I show audiences how to craft a story arc and message that gets the most engagement.

Bio

As a comedian, TEDx speaker, author, director, producer and story developer in Hollywood, Stacy is a master storyteller and has mentored hundreds of people to become published authors. She developed her Story Mapping Method so that busy people can write their books with confidence, even if they aren't writers. Why spend weeks, months, or years writing your story when you can learn how to professionally develop your story before you sit down to write it?
